

ARMY AND NAVY PREPARE TO QUELL HINDUS TO-DAY

The Cruiser Rainbow to be Assisted by Two Hundred Troops

Serious Situation in Vancouver in the Effort to Deport the Rebels—Fellow-subjects—The Negotiations for a Settlement Fail—Premier Borden and Ministers Say at Capital

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Vancouver, July 20.—Two hundred of the Vancouver militia, comprising one hundred and forty of the newly-formed Irish Fusiliers, and one company each from the Highlanders and the Sixth Regiment Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles, were called out to-night by a special order, signed by Colonel Duff-Stewart and Colonel George C. McSpadden. They will parade tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock fully armed, and expect at that hour to go on board the Rainbow, which is due from Victoria. More than a thousand men should be on the war vessel when she goes out early to-morrow forenoon to take possession of the Komagata Maru. Unless the Hindus suffer a violent change of mind during the night they will show a stubborn resistance, and a bloody fight may result.

It is well known that the men will come armed, and that the decks will be cleared for action. In addition to the armament that she carries, the naval men will bring seven Maxim guns with them and each man will have a full supply of ammunition. The general belief is that with such a show of force the Hindus will at once capitulate and will allow the Komagata Maru to be taken out beyond the three-mile limit.

To-night all is quiet on the inlet. If there is anything doing on the Komagata it is being done quietly. It is well known that huge piles of ammunition, in the shape of chunks of wood and lumps of coal, stand ready to be used at a moment's notice. The chief in official circles is that these will never be used.

Crew Taken Off.
Japanese Consul Hoff received cabled instructions from his Government this morning to see that the Japanese crew of the Komagata Maru was not mixed up in any battle. To this end the whole Japanese crew was this evening taken off the ship, and will remain off until such time as the Rainbow bluejackets take the matter under control. C. Gardner Johnson, agent for the owners, and Sir Charles H. Tupper, counsel for the owners, had a midday conference, and the lawyer has addressed another letter to the Hindu committee on the Komagata Maru, pointing out that the ship has all the water she needs, and assuring them that plenty of provisions will be put on board for the trip across the Pacific. The letter goes on to point out that the Hindus will have to return, and that therefore they might as well go peacefully.

Hindus Preparing to Fight.
The Hindus are not preparing for peace, however; they are preparing for war. To-day the forward and aft well decks on the vessel sport wooden barricades backed up with coal, and it looks as if they are prepared to make a vigorous defence.

With a message from the Governor-General, H. H. Stevens, M.P., and immigration inspector Hopkins, with a party went out to the ship at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The wire was from the Duke of Connaught to the Hindu passengers on board the steamer.

Message Not Satisfactory.
No one appears to know just what was contained in the message to the

CALMETTE'S MURDERER ELECTRIFIES COURT

Madame Caillaux Relates Her Wonderful Story

F. LABORI DEFENDS HER

Wife of the Former French Premier Was Willing and Self-controlled Witness—"For Three Months," She Said, "I Mounted Calvary."

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Paris, July 20.—Mme. Henriette Caillaux, the wife of Jos. Caillaux, once Premier of France and former Minister of Finance, occupied the prisoners' enclosure in the Assize Court at the Palace of Justice to-day, and for three hours recited in a dramatic manner the circumstances leading up to the shooting of Gaston Calmette, editor of The Figaro, with whose murder on March 18 she is charged.

MME. CAILLAUX.

Judge Louis Albaladejo acted as President of the court; the Procurator-General, Jules Herbeaux, had charge of the prosecution, and Fernand Labori, the noted advocate who was closely identified with the Dreyfus case, was chief counsel for the defence.

A Willing Witness.
Mme. Caillaux was a willing witness throughout and showed great self-control. It was only after she had concluded her narrative and was asked if there was anything she would like to add that she cast restraint aside and with accents of genuine emotion thrilled her listeners and drew a murmur of applause. Then she described vividly the protracted agony she had endured because of the calumnies against herself and her husband.

"For three months I mounted Calvary," she said. "Such I do not wish to my worst enemy. No one can imagine what I went through. I feared for myself, for my husband, for my

THE GAMEY SCANDAL GROWS

It is now more than three weeks since The Globe directed the attention of Sir James Whitney to the scandalous conduct of Mr. R. R. Gamey, member for Manitoulin, in levying what was in effect forced contributions from fishermen in his constituency depending for their living upon the licenses they must obtain from year to year from the Government Department. It was charged that the following letter had been addressed by Mr. Gamey to a number of his constituents, and that in at least three cases the fishermen had honored the drafts. "It may be that they had great confidence in their member. It is more likely that they dared not take the risk of braving his anger. Here is the letter. Let the reader judge how he would regard it, coming from a man in authority:—

THE AMAZING LETTER.

"R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., Broker.
"Office: Traders Bank Building, Phone 7328.
"Toronto, Ont., May 23, 1913.

"Dear Sir,—I am selling some stocks of Elizabeth Gold Mines, Ltd., at sixty cents per share. I am President of the company, and we have done a great deal of development work and have an extensive plant in operation. I have a payment to make now, and wish to sell you five hundred shares, for which I will draw on you three drafts for one hundred dollars in thirty, sixty and ninety days each. Some time early in June I will be up and explain fully the property and discuss matters with you. The drafts will go through the Merchants Bank, and they will notify you, and be good enough to accept them to assist me.

"Yours truly,

"(Signed), R. R. GAMEY."

NOTHING TO SAY.

Of the letter and the conduct of Mr. Gamey when the matter was first brought to his attention, Sir James Whitney curtly said, "Have nothing to say."

A week ago, in a second reference to this stand-and-deliver epistle. The Globe said:—

"Once more The Globe desires to ask the Premier of Ontario what his views are as to the moral quality of Mr. Gamey's action. The Hon. Mr. Hearst, one of his colleagues, knowing the facts, still recommended the member for Manitoulin to the electors of the Island. Are we to understand from the silence of Sir James that this is his attitude also, and that any member of the Legislature with mining stock to sell may with impunity draw upon Provincial license holders without their prior consent? Speak now, Sir James!"

The Premier of Ontario still has nothing to say. We propose to-day to give him some additional reasons for repudiating and condemning the conduct of the member for Manitoulin. If after he reads what follows he still has "nothing to say," The Globe will be forced to adopt the conclusion that THE PREMIER OF ONTARIO IS AFRAID OF R. R. GAMEY AND DARE NOT OFFEND HIM BY DENOUNCING HIS MISCONDUCT.

BIG HAUL FROM LICENSE-HOLDERS.

The Globe heard some time ago that Mr. Gamey had roped hotelkeepers, holders of shop licenses and others interested in the liquor trade, and depending, as the fishermen of the Manitoulin depend, on Government licenses for their means of living, into taking stock in the Elizabeth mine. No word has been said or will be said in these columns against the Elizabeth mine. It may turn out to be a splendid and profitable property for Mr. Gamey, who is President and Treasurer and owner of more than half the shares, and for those whom he has induced to purchase stock in the mine. It is not the Elizabeth mine that The Globe is attacking, but the way in which R. R. Gamey has apparently been using his prestige as a member of the Legislature and a follower of Sir James Whitney to sell stock to license-holders. Is Sir James going to stand for that? Does he intend to permit License Inspectors to go around introducing members of the Legislature so that they may "do business"? A few days ago The Globe obtained from the Parliament Buildings a list of the stockholders of the Elizabeth mine. That list contains the names of 565 shareholders, and was filed on February 7, 1914, in compliance with statutory requirements. Of the 565, no less than 144, or more than twenty-five per cent., are described as or are readily identifiable as men at that time connected with hotelkeeping or liquor selling. There are, doubtless, many others in the list interested in hotels who are not so described, and as to that The Globe proposes to continue its investigation.

TORIES OUT-MANOEUVRED BY PREMIER ASQUITH

PREMIER ASQUITH IN PARLIAMENT.

KING WILL WITHHOLD ASSENT TO HOME RULE

STATEMENT OF PARLIAMENTARY WRITER—EXPLANATION OF CONCLUSION REACHED.

(Canadian Associated Cable.)
London, July 21.—King George intends to withhold his assent to the home rule bill unless the amendment is presented along with it, says A. P. Nicholson in The Daily News to-day. He says it may seem incredible to Liberals that the King should refuse to sign the home rule bill, despite the advice of his Ministry, but the explanation apparently is this: The view expressed in Court circles is, first, that the Government have violated the Parliament act procedure in the third session by the introduction of an amending bill to a bill designed to pass unchanged under the Parliament act; secondly, that since the Parliament act procedure has not, as it is suggested, been complied with, the King is not bound by the provisions of the Parliament act in the case of the home rule bill.

OPINION OF IRISH PAPERS IS DIVIDED

THEY RECOGNIZE GRAVITY OF SITUATION, BUT STAND BY COVENANT.

(Canadian Associated Cable.)
London, July 21.—Opinion in Ireland on the fresh developments in the political crisis is much divided. The Northern Whig says: "We welcome every effort in the direction of peace, but after Redmond's speech in the House of Commons we see little prospect of peace unless the Prime Minister has the courage to rise above party and show true statesmanship. So far as we in Ulster are concerned, conference or no conference, we mean to stand by the covenant of Ulster." The Echo says: "We recognize the gravity of the situation and the dangers that lie ahead if there is no settlement. We hope that some settlement will be arrived at. We are sure our leaders will labor to secure an honorable settlement and honorable peace, and we are specially anxious that they should do their best for peace because of his Majesty's interest. There may have to be give as well as take, but we hope it will be honorable giving as well as honorable taking."

The Belfast Evening Telegraph says: "The best and only safe course the Government can take is to postpone further consideration of home rule until it has been pronounced upon by the country. The conference may do something towards settlement, but that it will settle the question finally is very doubtful."

Heated Criticisms of the Conference Called for To-day

UNIONIST CLUBS EXPRESS CHAGRIN

Initiative for Home Rule Round Table Taken by Premier.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
London, July 20.—There was some extremely heated criticism to-day in Unionist Clubs of the contemplated conference at Buckingham Palace between King George and the leaders of the Liberal, Unionist, Nationalist and Ulsterite parties on the Irish home rule bill. Members of the Unionist party expressed the view that their party again had been out-manoeuvred by Premier Asquith, and at a moment when, through the House of Lords' reconstruction of the amendment to the home rule bill, they were in a better position than for a long time. The initiative for the conference was taken by Premier Asquith, and not by King George, according to these Unionists, and the Premier's one and only object was to gain time and prevent a Provisional Government in Ulster being constituted until after Parliament had adjourned, thus avoiding criticism of his followers, and possible defeat on division.

Can Weaver the Storm.

If the Premier can carry out this plan, a prominent Unionist said to-day, he probably can safely weather the political storm until Parliament is dissolved in its natural course in 1915. Ulsterites, he said, were running short of money, the organization of the volunteers having cost a tremendous sum, and the Ulster business men, whose trade had been badly disorganized through the crisis, were unable to subscribe a note.

"But he won't," said another of this Unionist. "And Bonar Law, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, has been asked to understand that he must delay in the negotiations, and tell the conferees that the Ulsterites must not last more than a week."

Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulsterites, took the calling of the conference quite calmly. He told his colleagues that it could make no difference in his attitude. He added that he had yet to hear an answer to his challenge to the Cabinet to "give us a clean cut or come and fight us," and said that under no circumstances would he accept less than the exclusion of Ulster from the provisions of

Business Needs Time To Readjust Itself

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Washington, July 20.—President Wilson said to-day that during his recent conference with business men those men who thought business conditions had did not hold the tariff responsible. The consensus of opinion he gathered was that business needed time to readjust itself to the tariff.

FLEET TOOK TWO HOURS TO PASS BEFORE KING

IMPRESSIVE REVIEW OF BRITISH HOME FLEET IN ENGLISH CHANNEL.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Portsmouth, Eng., July 20.—The British home fleet, composed of over 200 fighting ships and an equal number of auxiliaries, including submarines, torpedo-boat destroyers and sea planes, was led out to sea by King George this morning. His Majesty was on board the Royal yacht, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, Winston Spencer Churchill, and the other Lords of the Admiralty.

At the entrance to the English Channel the Royal yacht and the fleet passed in review before his Majesty, while a fleet of sea-planes from the Calshot airship station flew in pairs above the Royal yacht and circled about the slowly-moving ships.

IMMIGRATION RULES TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

ALL BUT AGRICULTURAL LABORERS AND DOMESTICS WARNED OFF.

(Special Despatch to The Globe.)
Ottawa, July 20.—A circular has just been issued by the Department of Immigration, declaring its intention henceforth not only to warn all but agricultural laborers and domestics against coming to the Dominion, but also to reject them if they fall under any of the restrictive clauses of the immigration regulations. The fact that a man comes under the category has a promise of employment will not save him from rejection as formerly. In such a case the department takes the view that if he secure such a position he does so by taking a job which might otherwise have been filled by one of Canada's own unemployed, among whom every trade and occupation is already represented.

ARMY WORM MILLIONS APPEAR IN NEW PLACES

Farmers Alarmed at Devastation of Their Crops and Pastures — Pest Extends From Essex to Ontario Counties — Experts Hope to Win Fight Soon.

(Special Despatches to The Globe.)
Brantford, July 20.—The army worm has made its presence known by the millions in new sections, one being around Blue Lake, north, where it has wiped out pasture and is now in the crops working devastation; around Mount Pleasant, to the southwest, where it is cleaning up pasture land; on Cockshutt road, to the south, where it has congregated in millions and is doing great damage, and around Paris, especially on the low banks of the Nith, where it is cleaning out pastures.
At Mohawk Institute this morning the worms got over a trench dug to keep them back off the Mohawk road. The hay field was practically destroyed. The worms then made their way into the hearts of mangels and ate out the leaves at the heart, not touching the outside leaves. In the oats and barley the worms did not touch the heads, but stripped every green leaf from alone, leaving the trench ineffective, the men are using different
