
THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

THE REBELLION OF THE PIGS

To the Editor of The Globe:

I have just received a copy of your paper of July 27th, and I must say that I was highly pleased to see the article on the "Spirit of the Press." It is a fitting tribute to the work of journalists, and it is a pleasure to see such an appreciation given to the efforts of the press in promoting public interest and truth.

I have always been a great admirer of the press and I believe that it is an important force in society. It is the voice of the people and it is the protector of the truth. I am sure that your efforts to promote this spirit will be appreciated by all who value the freedom of the press.

Sincerely yours,

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

THE THIEF

It was in the middle of the night when the house was silent and still, that the sound of a heavy footstep startled the sleeping policeman. He sprang to his feet, his heart pounding in his chest, and his hand reached instinctively for his gun. As he reached for it, he heard a low, menacing voice say, "Don't move a muscle, or I'll kill you!"

The officer froze, his breath coming in short, ragged gasps. He looked up to see a man standing over him, his face hidden in the shadows. The man was holding aREV:0
