GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY ARE NOW AT WAR

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The British Foreign Office has issued the following statement—which, though not made by His Britannic Majesty's Government that the neutrality of Belgium has not been disturbed by the German Government that a state of war exists between Great Britain and Germany.

THE BULWARK OF BRITAIN'S EMPIRE GOES FORTH AGAIN TO BATTLE

King George Says the Navy Will Revive Its Glories in Action

A Dramatic Scene as the King and the Statesmen of Britain Waited the Striking of the Clock, Which Meant War—Stirring Message to the Fleet Was the First Sign That Hostilities Had Begun—H. G. Wells Tells How Britain Faces the Crisis (Headed Cape Town to 'The Glove'.

MR. ASQUITH'S STORY OF THE ULTIMATUM

British Cabinet Study Germany's War May be Unnecessary, and the Precaution, and Therefore Nurse an Ultimatum to Germany.

Billions Voted

The British Cabinet has decided to vote unprecedented amounts of money, both for military and naval purposes, and several special bills in the shape of a Naval Defence Act and a War Loan Act have been presented to Parliament. The amount of money to be voted is estimated at between £1,000,000,000 and £1,500,000,000. The new Naval Defence Act will provide for the construction of a fleet of ships, both battleships and destroyers, which will be sufficient to keep the German fleet in check. The War Loan Act will provide for the raising of £500,000,000 for the purchase of food, munitions, and other supplies needed by the army and navy.

War Bullets

Berlin, Aug. 1.—The German government has received a declaration of war from the British government. The British government has also declared war on Germany. The war has now begun.

Britain, Aug. 1.—The British government has received a declaration of war from the German government. The British government has also declared war on Germany. The war has now begun.

Paris, Aug. 1.—The German government has received a declaration of war from the British government. The British government has also declared war on Germany. The war has now begun.

The war began on August 1, 1914, when the British government declared war on Germany after receiving a declaration of war from the Russian government. The war lasted for four years, from 1914 to 1918, and was fought between the Central Powers (Germany, Austria-Hungary, Ottoman Empire, and Bulgaria) and the Allied Powers (Britain, France, Russia, Italy, and later the United States).

London Hears News of Battle

London, Aug. 4.—The news of the battle between the British and German fleets has just been received. The battle took place off the coast of Norway and was fought between the British fleet and the German High Seas Fleet. The British fleet emerged victorious, sinking several German warships. The battle lasted for several hours and was fought under difficult weather conditions.

THE GLOVE IS SAFE

New York, Aug. 4.—The news of the battle between the British and German fleets has just been received. The battle took place off the coast of Norway and was fought between the British fleet and the German High Seas Fleet. The British fleet emerged victorious, sinking several German warships. The battle lasted for several hours and was fought under difficult weather conditions.

Steamship Arrives

The steamship 'Delphine' arrived at New York from Liverpool today at 11 a.m. She brought news of the battle between the British and German fleets off the coast of Norway. The British fleet emerged victorious, sinking several German warships. The battle lasted for several hours and was fought under difficult weather conditions.

GERMANS REFUSED

The news of the battle between the British and German fleets has just been received. The battle took place off the coast of Norway and was fought between the British fleet and the German High Seas Fleet. The British fleet emerged victorious, sinking several German warships. The battle lasted for several hours and was fought under difficult weather conditions.

A GERMAN BATTLESHIP

The news of the battle between the British and German fleets has just been received. The battle took place off the coast of Norway and was fought between the British fleet and the German High Seas Fleet. The British fleet emerged victorious, sinking several German warships. The battle lasted for several hours and was fought under difficult weather conditions.